Gr. 5-9. The fifth book featuring 17-year-old Dawn Rochelle is a page-turner that will captivate readers looking for melodrama. When Dawn was 13 she was diagnosed with leukemia. Now, after nearly three years in remission, she faces another medical crisis--a stroke, which has left her partially paralyzed. The doctors, physical therapists, and occupational therapists are optimistic about her recovery, but Dawn, discouraged by the setback, falls into despair. The effects of her paralysis are impossible to hide, and she's embarrassed by her limp, slurred speech, and lopsided smile. She's also certain that she'll lose her boyfriend. What's best is the depiction of Dawn's turbulent emotions as she faces another tough struggle. Give this to McDaniel's fans, of course, as well as other readers who can handle a good cry. I thought this book was truly awesome. If you read the other four Dawn Rochelle books you have got to get this one. It was great how Dawn lived her life to max with hope in the other books, but will she have the strength to get past the struggles that lie ahead in this book, you'll just have to read this book and find out. I found this book heart breaking and hopeful. I hope you think it is the wonderful book I thought it was.

To Live Again (Dawn Rochelle Novels)

By Liz

This 5th book was a awesome story to read. I love how Ms. McDaniel's introduces you to another illness. This series was a great series for me to read because it helped me learn & gave me good insight about cancer. Dawn can also be inspiring to anyone who reads this series. So sad that this is the last book & I am glad I own it.

To live again

To Live Again By Megha

To live Again by Lurlence Mc Daniel's is an amazing story. Dawn the main character in this book was diagnosed with leukemia when she was thirteen and had a stroke at the age of seventeen. It was lunch time when her left arm felt heavy and she collapsed on to the ground in front of everyone. Then all of a sudden she was rushed to the hospital. Dawn had a stroke and lost many brain cells and it would be hard for her to recover. She worked with many therapists to help her fully recover. Her favorite therapist was Haley; she helped Dawn stand and walk. Dawn was in her senior year of high school and wanted to go to collage. Also she wanted to graduate with her class but it would take a lot of hard work because she had to recover. Dawn was determined to graduate on time so she got a tutor to help her with her classes. Dawn finally caught up with the two grading periods she missed. Then Dawn was finally well enough to go back to school. Everyone was really nice to her and welcomed her back. Especial her friends Jake and Rhonda. Jake is one of Dawn's friends and she had liked Jake for along time. Rhonda is one of Dawns really good friends who helped her with her books and drives her home. Tasha is one of Jake's friends Tasha also likes Jake. Tasha's Brother Brad got into a serious motorcycle accident and is in critical condition. In the end Jake asks Dawn to the prom and Dawn with hard work graduates on time.

I think this book was very exciting to read because Dawn was in critical condition and was always working hard to get better. I felt like I was in the book because of the way the author described what Dawn was going through. I thought the main conflict was very interesting because some people don't fully recover from strokes so I wanted to know if Dawn would or not. I think all the characters in this book seemed real because of the medical conditions that were in the book. Also because of all the people that helped Dawn because there are people who want to help others. I think the ending of this book was amazing. I think this because Dawn overcame everything that was against her.

I think the author's voice was someone watching everything going on and reporting it. The author used a wide range of vocabulary also the vocabulary was very descriptive. The author made you feel and experience what Dawn was going through which I really liked. The author used dialogue and tone well also was very descriptive. I really liked the authors writing style.

I would rate this book a ten out of ten because I think it was amazing. I would recommend this book to anyone who is looking for an inspiring story, short book and a great read. Compared to other books I have read it is really great and one of my favorites.

From this book I learned many things I learned alot about strokes. I learned that to always believe in your self, you need to work hard to get in places in life and life isn't easy. I really liked how Dawn always believed in her self and never gave up. Dawn has been through some up having some much experience losing a loved one she helped Tasha get over her Brother. With out Dawn Tasha would have never realized that she has to move on with her life. Read To Live Again by Lurlence Mc Daniel.
